Yoga for Strength

This is a Hatha yoga class which involves moving through a sequence of asanas (poses), breathe awareness, and meditation, as we align, strengthen and calm the body, mind and spirit. Health benefits include overall toning, increased flexibility and range of motion, core strength, improved circulation and posture, as well as reducing tension, relaxing tight muscles, and increasing breath awareness for a more calm, yet energized state of mind. During class, you are encouraged to go at your own pace in a noncompetitive and nonjudgmental approach and to respect the signals that your body sends you. In this Yoga class, you are encouraged to bring small weights (1-3lbs) for increased muscle definition and strength. Please bring a mat and a set of 2 or 3 pound weights.

Slow Flow Yoga

Slow Flow yoga provides poses that range from gentle to challenging, but done with stable, self-centering energy. The pace of these classes is understandably slower and emphasis is placed on safe alignment and the maintaining balance of the slow breathing. The toned-down speed builds strength, stability, and postural integrity. Slow flow is more conducive to the meditative practices of mindfulness of action and awareness of breathing by allowing you to notice the space between poses while still retaining a gentle rhythm of movement. This makes it particularly well-suited to newer students, or for those who desire deep concentration within their practice.
