Command Center Announces More Details for Vaccine Online Booking Process

On Wednesday, the Baker-Polito Administration provided an update on COVID-19 vaccination efforts and announced new vaccination locations across the Commonwealth. The Administration continues to expand Commonwealth's vaccination infrastructure. There are currently 125 vaccination sites in Massachusetts, and the Administration expects this will ramp up to 165 sites by mid-February. Over 120,000 appointments will be made available over the course of this week.

It is expected to take several weeks for residents to secure appointments due to limited supply of vaccines from the federal government. Residents can visit www.mass.gov/COVIDvaccine to check when they are eligible to get the vaccine, find an appointment at a location near them, and get ready for their appointment.

Mass Vaccination Sites

Each Thursday, new appointments will be available for the mass vaccination sites. This week, over 55,000 new appointments will go live for the following week. Residents can use the map or ZIP Code search tool to find a vaccination location near them at www.mass.gov/COVIDVaccine.

In total, the Administration plans to stand up at least seven mass vaccination sites across the Commonwealth, to ensure every resident who wants a vaccine, has access.

Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury: In collaboration with the City of Boston, the vaccination site at the Reggie Lewis Center opened this week. This site is currently serving residents of Boston but will transition to being a mass vaccination site at the end of the month.

Fenway Park in Boston: Fenway Park officially opened to the public on Monday, February 1. All eligible groups can get vaccinated at this location. By end of the day Tuesday, 1,200 doses have been administered at the site. About 500 doses per day are expected to be given each day this week. Next week, Fenway will ramp up to 1,000 doses a day, and for the week after that 1,250. The Administration expects this site to eventually ramp up to do about 8,000 doses a week.

Gillette Stadium in Foxboro: Opened on Friday, January 15. To date, 23,000 doses have been administered.

The COVID-19 Response Command Center is also working to set up sites in the communities hardest hit by COVID-19. This week, 8 new Walgreens sites opened in some of these communities: 2 sites in Mattapan, 2 sites in Roxbury, Dorchester, Chelsea, Revere, Everett. A community vaccination site also opened in Brockton, which is being run by their local board of health.

Next week, under the Retail Pharmacy Partnership Program CVS Health will open an additional 30 pharmacy sites primarily in areas that have been disproportionately impacted by COVID. This effort will add 21,000 appointments, which will come online in the next week or so.

The Need for Blood Donations Continues, and Recovered COVID-19 Donors Can Help Save Lives

In coordination with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Red Cross is seeking people who are fully recovered from the new coronavirus to sign up to donate plasma to help current COVID-19 patients. People who have fully recovered from COVID-19 have antibodies in their plasma that can attack the virus. This convalescent plasma is being evaluated as treatment for patients with serious or immediately life-threatening COVID-19 infections, or those judged by a healthcare provider to be at high risk of progression to severe or life-threatening condition. Interested individuals can visit RedCrossBlood.org/plasma4covid to learn more. The Red Cross follows the highest standards of safety and infection control, and volunteer donors are the only source of blood for those in need.
